

THE HAZEL GREEN HERALD.

SPENCER COOPER, Owner and Editor.

THE HERALD OF A NOISY WORLD, WITH NEWS FROM ALL NATIONS.

$1.00 A YEAR. Always in Advance.

VOLUME II.

HAZEL GREEN, WOLFE COUNTY, KY. WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 18, 1886.

NUMBER 25.

SHE NEVER GOSSIP.

I have this gossiping about
I always tell my longest unless
Now there's a good time to tell
He who would never tell
He who would never tell
Oh, I'm so glad you told spread
Of that poor fellow's secret
He might have stole it all.

And when Jane Mac Donaldson,
She is that Mac Donaldson now
Has been a widow for a year—
Who is not a postman?—
(And she was a widow before her pa
And she was awful good too, though!
How could you think me shocking?

I only said, "It might have been
A rage, or something."

Boiling Millhouse tricks a pint
Of water, surely, you've been told?
Or something strong each day—is it
That he can take his part, turn
When it is mentioned, with, "A pint
For I won't give up, that I won't—
I always hold my tongue, unless
I've something good to say."
Harper's Bazaar.

A GREAT NOVELIST.

Why the "Undoubt'd Genius"
Never Became Famous.

To a friend of mine who is well acquainted with several noted authors, and who is a literary man himself, I enquired whether he knew of any author of work adopted by men who had made themselves famous. In the course of the conversation that ensued he said:

"I will, if you like, take you to see a friend of mine, who is one of the most remarkable of English novelists."

"Who is he?"

"There would be no use in telling you his name. You never heard of him."

"A coming celebrity, eh?"

"You can judge better of that when you know him. I just received a note from him saying he had come to see a good deal of success, and to call so he could let me the first chapters."

"I see. You want to show the hearing of one of us, do you?"

"No. I will sit through. It is sure to be good."

We sat up St. Martin's Lane and turned down one of those streets that might have led into Soho square, and again might not. You can never tell just where the people who have you come to one of them would seek houses built in 17 something, we rang the bell, and a rather ugly girl opened the door, and said, "Come in, sir." When it was mentioned, with, "A pint for I won't give up, that I won't—

I always hold my tongue, unless I've something good to say,"

"I am sorry to trouble you, sir,"

HAZEL GREEN HERALD.

One Dollar a Year, Always in Advance.

SPENCER COOPER, Editor.

We are authorized to announce

HON. W. P. TAULBEE,
Of Magoffin county, a candidate for Congress in the Tenth Kentucky District, submitted to the members of the Democratic party.

Ex-Governor and ex-Senator John W. Stevenson died on Tuesday morning, the 10th inst., at his home in Covington, Ky. Stevenson was born in Richmond, Va., May 4th, 1812, and in 1849 located in Covington. In 1845 he was elected a member of the Legislature from the Covington district, and his untiring statesmanship and superior ability marked him so prominently that he was returned twice again, until in 1849 he was chosen as a delegate to the Constitutional Convention which met to amend and alter the constitution of our State. He held a leading position in that great work. He was elected to Congress in 1852 for the 33rd, and again in 1856, and in 1860. Stevenson in 1867 was elected as Lieutenant Governor on the ticket with Gov. John L. Helm, who dying five days after his inauguration, was succeeded by Gov. Stephen. At the election the following year he was elected Governor of Kentucky, but before his term expired he was chosen by the Legislature at S. 3000 to fill the office of Senator for the March 4th, 1871. Since his term as U. S. Senator expired, he has been a leading lawyer of the United States, and was President of the American Bar Association. By his death the Nation loses one of its most intellectual men, and another name is added to the list of illustrious dead, the number of which has grown to startling proportions in the last few months.

The Courier-Journal of last Saturday published four columns of dispatches to show that Col. R. M. Kelly was short in his personal accounts to the amount of $58,826.20. Col. Kelly denied the allegation in the Louisville Commercial, and said that he had never been in arrears to the Government, even to the minute mill, and will let him do as he says. We know "Bob" Kelly, have known him a long time, and never knew him to be guilty of anything mean. He may have borrowed from friends money that he has been unable to pay, but his official record will prove square and, as truly says the public has nothing to do with his private affairs.

In the State Convention of Texas, held last week, Gen. L. C. Rose was nominated for Governor, beating Hon. W. J. Swain. Mr. Swain, who was considered the most formidable and suitable candidate, married a Miss Francis Bohannon, who is the daughter of Hon. George Ky., and has many relatives in this state of the State who regard his defeat. However, it is a satisfaction to know that Mr. Swain has filled several honorable positions in that great State, among the number the office of Senator and Comptroller, and today is perhaps the strongest and most highly respected citizen of the Lone Star State.

Hon. Asher Caruth agreed to sit away the indictments against Craig Toliver and Cook Humphrey in the Rowan Circuit Court provided they would leave the State never to return. This they agreed to, and on the 10th inst., Toliver left for Texas and Humphrey for Mississippi. If Toliver meets a Humphrey in Texas or a Hazelet in Mississippi, it will be hard on either of the States.

A man named Cutting who published a paper in Texas printed something about an editor in Mexico, and the Mexicans caught and imprisoned him. Now the paper is printed in Mexico, and the threat to wipe out Mexico unless he is forthcoming. Guess the greasers will give him up right soon, but if they don't, there will be blood on the moon.

Prof. Foster, of Iowa, who is a prognosticator of the weather, says that one of the greatest storms of the year will begin on Friday, Aug. 26th and continue until Friday, Aug. 27th, and that severe storms of rain and hail will visit various localities in the mountains. Sun spots of a vivid nature are to be seen from the 18th to the 24th.

Wallace Grubl, who has been acting as Deputy Marshal under Capt. Gross, and a well-known newspaper man, has joined the ranks of the "Leitchfield Smasher," in Oregon, and has again mounted the tripod. We welcome the Grayson Gazette (the new name of the paper) and bespeak much success for it.

In event of a war with Mexico, it is said that Col. Gresham will command the Texas cavalry. Many persons in this part of Kentucky remember Col. C. as being a dashing horse officer on the Confederate side during the War of the Rebellion.

Notice.

The Democrats of Wolfe county are respectfully requested to meet in mass convention at the court house in Campbellsville on Sunday, the 1st day of August, 1862, at 1 o'clock P.M., to nominate delegates to attend the District Convention to be held at West Liberty, Ky., on the 2nd day of August, 1862, and to nominate a candidate for Congress and for the State Board of Supervisors for the Tenth Congressional District of Kentucky.

Joseph C. COOPER,
Chairman County Committee.

Fathers who lead a life of exposure are subject to rheumatism, neuralgia, and lameness and will find a valuable remedy in Dr. J. H. McLean's Volcanic Oil Liniment. It will heal burns, scalds, and other injuries. Sold by G. B. Swango, Hazel Green, and J. N. Vaughn, Campion.

DASHED TO DEATH.

MRS. TYLER FALLS TWENTY FEET OVER A CLIFF.

A woman falling upon her, and dies in Three-Quarters of an Hour.

A deep gloom hovered over this locality on Saturday morning last, when the people of the town first heard of the death of Mrs. Tyler. The woman, the day morning before she had started from here full of life and hope, and happy in the society of her husband and their two relatives, who lived in Pike County. She was a Christian lady, whom none knew but her, and her loss will be deeply mourned. Her husband, however, and her other sorrowing relatives should find consolation in the thought that she has gone to be with all our people in his affliction. The little boy spoken of is a son of Thos. Lee, now of Madison, Ind., and his wife, Mrs. Lee, and Mrs. Tyler were raising. The following letter sent home by special messenger, Frank might express the accident which caused Mrs. Tyler's fall, and the injuries of the boy and others.

PRINCETON, KY., Aug. 13.

J. H. AND J. A. DAVISON, Esq.—I have now to write to you. Mrs. Davidson fell last night after Mrs. Tyler, at about half past eleven o'clock, we had just gone to bed, and I was in the room above, when I turned over a cliff and killed, and the child was badly cut and bruised that it could not live. Tyler went to bed last night, and I went to bed with him. I got a coffin this morning and followed, and returned home tonight. The particular cause that led to such a sad result I found I could not tell. Mrs. Davidson was a widow, and had no children. She had been blind for some time, and was being blind stepped over the cliff. The wagon fell upon Mrs. Tyler, a distance of twenty feet, and she was laid dead. She was a widow, and was greatly distressed, and believed it to be the last of blood purifiers.

T. H. HARRIS, Creel City, Ramsey Co., Dakotah, writes: "I have been an intense sufferer, with Dyspepsia, for the past three years. Six months ago I began to use been ever bestowed upon man is perfect health, and the true way to insure health is to purify your blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Mrs. Eliza A. Chaffee, of Englewood, Colo., writes: "Every winter and spring my family, including myself, use several bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Experience has convinced me that, as a powerful purifier, it is very much superior to any other preparation of Sarsaparilla. Persons of scruples or consumptive tendencies are sure to be greatly benefited by its use." J. W. Starr, Laconia, N.H., writes: "For years I was troubled with sufficient trouble without adding Ayer's Sarsaparilla to my list. I have greatly improved, which did me little, if any, good. Two bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla effected a complete cure. It is my opinion that this medicine is the best of the day." C. D. Upson, Webster, N.H., writes: "For a number of years I was troubled with a humor in my eyes, and unable to obtain relief until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I have taken seven bottles, and greatly improved, and believe it to be the best of blood purifiers."

THE BEST

Blood

Purifier

T. H. HARRIS, Creel City, Ramsey Co., Dakotah, writes: "I have been an intense sufferer, with Dyspepsia, for the past three years. Six months ago I began to use

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

It has effected an entire cure, and I am now as well as ever."

Sold by all Druggists.

Price $1; six bottles, $5.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayes & Co., Lowell, Mass., U.S.A.

BOB NUNNELLY, WITH

DUNLAP BROS. & CO., WHOLESALE SADDLERY,

J. L. Dunlap,
W. G. Brattin,
729 and 730
W. Main St.,
LOUISVILLE, KY.

Manufacturers of Saddles, Harness, &c. and dealers in
Saddlery Hardware,

Louisville, KY.

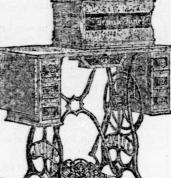

THE NEW AND ELEGANT

HIGH ARM

"JENNIE JUNE"

SEWING MACHINE

IS THE BEST. BUY NO OTHER.

The Jennie June Sewing Machine is the best. It is light, running and does such beautiful work. Agents' favorite, because it is a quick and easy seller.

AGENTS WANTED IN UNOCCUPIED TERRITORY.

SEND FOR CIRCULAR.

JUNE MANUFACTURING CO.

Ct. La Salle Avenue and Ontario Street,
CHICAGO, ILL.

YOUR HAIR

should be your crowning glory. Ayer's Hair Vigor will restore the vitality and color of your hair, and make it strong and healthy.

It is easily applied, and where the glands are not decayed or absorbed, will cause a new growth on bald heads.

MAY is the month of power and vigor.

Age? Read the following, from Mrs. G. Norton, Somerville, Mass.: "I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for the past 20 years; and my hair is as abundant and glossy to-day as when I was 25."

BY assuming that a rat of Ayer's Hair Vigor will continue you of its powers, Mrs. M. E. Gold, Leadville, Col., writes: "Two years ago, my hair having already fallen out, I commenced to use Ayer's Hair Vigor. To-day my hair is 29 inches long, fine, strong, and healthy."

RENEWED and strengthened by the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor, the hair regains its youthful color and vitality.

BY the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor, George D. Daldyke, Boston, Mass., has his hair restored to its earlier healthy condition. He was nearly bald, and very gray. He writes: "Only four bottles of Ayer's Hair Vigor have given me back my hair, and its youthful color and quality."

USING Ayer's Hair Vigor cures disease cases of the scalp. F. H. Farnham, Trenton, Ind., writes: "I had been treated for a disease of the scalp; my head was covered with dandruff, and the hair dry and harsh. Ayer's Hair Vigor gave me immediate relief, and restored my hair to its former beauty and health, and rendered the hair soft and pliable."

I am determined to sell, and any one desirous of buying, may do so at a reduced price and on easy terms, in a dwelling house and lots conveniently situated.

For sale by all Druggists.

W. N. TUCK,

WHITE, GREEN & HUFFAKER,
Wholesale Druggists in

Boots and Shoes,
612 West Main Street,
LOUISVILLE, KY.

Home for Sale!

An offer made for the next year, to be paid in advanced, and on easy terms, in a dwelling house and lots conveniently situated.

For sale by all Druggists.

J. R. BAILEY, M. D.,
Hazel Green, Ky.

Fathers who lead a life of exposure

are subject to rheumatism, neuralgia, and lameness and will find a valuable remedy in Dr. J. H. McLean's Volcanic

Oil Liniment. It will heal burns, scalds, and other injuries. Sold by G. B. Swango, Hazel Green, and J. N. Vaughn, Campion.

BUY THE BEST.

The Johnston Organs

Are first-class in Material, Workmanship and Methods of Construction. They are unrivaled in power and beauty of tone, and in genuine excellence, far surpass all organs of other makes ever offered in our country.

OVER 67,000 SOLD!

HARD TIMES!

DOWN GO THE PRICES.

We are now receiving orders for LARGE AND SMALL SELECTED STOCK of every variety of Goods, and the delivery of all our goods at Wholesale and Retail, which we PROPOSE TO SELL FOR CASH, or exchange for Produce and Live Stock. We have often tried to establish a trade on a Cash basis, but have been unable to do so, and have been compelled to submit to the disastrous effects of the credit system, and our intention to reform our business, but little attention has been given to what we have said. Now we intend to establish upon the ruins of the old credit system a STRICTLY CASH BUSINESS, which will enable us to sell you goods

Cheaper Than You Have Ever Bought Before.

We, in particular, invite the attention of RIVER MEN and others to our large stock of CLOTHING, DRY GOODS, &c., which we are offering at special low prices for cash.

To all of our customers having accounts due, we most earnestly solicit to come forward and make settlements. You owe it to us to do so as well as to yourself.

We will sell you goods cheaper than you have ever bought them before; we can better afford it, because we will take no risk on time.

J. T. & F. DAY.

SEE!!

THE GREAT IMPROVEMENT IN AUTOMATIC MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS!

The Great Production of

THE MECHANICAL ORGANS.

The Russell, Net Cash, $15.00.

The Celestina, Net Cash, $25.00.

The Aeolian Organ, Net Cash, $35.00.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—If you want a first-class Parlor Organ, the ZEOLIAN is the one to buy. With it you can play at once the most difficult music, without years of practice, and hundreds of dollars expense in learning (and then perhaps not succeed), while with this you can play at sight, as no other can. At the same time, if you wish, you can be learning the use of the keys; as it has a full five-octave key-board, with four full sets of reeds, and is not only a cultivator of music, but an instructor. Price, $

Send for Catalogue.

EMILY TRIPP,

Publisher of Music and Dealer in Pianos, Organs, Etc.

No. 819 FOURTH AVENUE, LOUISVILLE, KY.

JOHNSON'S ANODYNE LINIMENT

FOR INTERNAL EXTERNAL
USE

PARSONS' PILLS

These pills are a powerful, diuretic, cathartic, and emetic. They are also a powerful remedy for all forms of disease.

The internal dose is one tablet every hour, and the external dose, one tablet every two hours.

They are a powerful, diuretic, cathartic, and emetic. They are also a powerful remedy for all forms of disease.

The internal dose is one tablet every hour, and the external dose, one tablet every two hours.

They are a powerful, diuretic, cathartic, and emetic. They are also a powerful remedy for all forms of disease.

The internal dose is one tablet every hour, and the external dose, one tablet every two hours.

They are a powerful, diuretic, cathartic, and emetic. They are also a powerful remedy for all forms of disease.

The internal dose is one tablet every hour, and the external dose, one tablet every two hours.

They are a powerful, diuretic, cathartic, and emetic. They are also a powerful remedy for all forms of disease.

The internal dose is one tablet every hour, and the external dose, one tablet every two hours.

They are a powerful, diuretic, cathartic, and emetic. They are also a powerful remedy for all forms of disease.

The internal dose is one tablet every hour, and the external dose, one tablet every two hours.

They are a powerful, diuretic, cathartic, and emetic. They are also a powerful remedy for all forms of disease.

The internal dose is one tablet every hour, and the external dose, one tablet every two hours.

They are a powerful, diuretic, cathartic, and emetic. They are also a powerful remedy for all forms of disease.

The internal dose is one tablet every hour, and the external dose, one tablet every two hours.

They are a powerful, diuretic, cathartic, and emetic. They are also a powerful remedy for all forms of disease.

The internal dose is one tablet every hour, and the external dose, one tablet every two hours.

They are a powerful, diuretic, cathartic, and emetic. They are also a powerful remedy for all forms of disease.

The internal dose is one tablet every hour, and the external dose, one tablet every two hours.

They are a powerful, diuretic, cathartic, and emetic. They are also a powerful remedy for all forms of disease.

The internal dose is one tablet every hour, and the external dose, one tablet every two hours.

They are a powerful, diuretic, cathartic, and emetic. They are also a powerful remedy for all forms of disease.

The internal dose is one tablet every hour, and the external dose, one tablet every two hours.

They are a powerful, diuretic, cathartic, and emetic. They are also a powerful remedy for all forms of disease.

The internal dose is one tablet every hour, and the external dose, one tablet every two hours.

They are a powerful, diuretic, cathartic, and emetic. They are also a powerful remedy for all forms of disease.

The internal dose is one tablet every hour, and the external dose, one tablet every two hours.

They are a powerful, diuretic, cathartic, and emetic. They are also a powerful remedy for all forms of disease.

The internal dose is one tablet every hour, and the external dose, one tablet every two hours.

They are a powerful, diuretic, cathartic, and emetic. They are also a powerful remedy for all forms of disease.

The internal dose is one tablet every hour, and the external dose, one tablet every two hours.

They are a powerful, diuretic, cathartic, and emetic. They are also a powerful remedy for all forms of disease.

The internal dose is one tablet every hour, and the external dose, one tablet every two hours.

They are a powerful, diuretic, cathartic, and emetic. They are also a powerful remedy for all forms of disease.

The internal dose is one tablet every hour, and the external dose, one tablet every two hours.

They are a powerful, diuretic, cathartic, and emetic. They are also a powerful remedy for all forms of disease.

The internal dose is one tablet every hour, and the external dose, one tablet every two hours.

They are a powerful, diuretic, cathartic, and emetic. They are also a powerful remedy for all forms of disease.

The internal dose is one tablet every hour, and the external dose, one tablet every two hours.

They are a powerful, diuretic, cathartic, and emetic. They are also a powerful remedy for all forms of disease.

The internal dose is one tablet every hour, and the external dose, one tablet every two hours.

They are a powerful, diuretic, cathartic, and emetic. They are also a powerful remedy for all forms of disease.

The internal dose is one tablet every hour, and the external dose, one tablet every two hours.

They are a powerful, diuretic, cathartic, and emetic. They are also a powerful remedy for all forms of disease.

The internal dose is one tablet every hour, and the external dose, one tablet every two hours.

They are a powerful, diuretic, cathartic, and emetic. They are also a powerful remedy for all forms of disease.

The internal dose is one tablet every hour, and the external dose, one tablet every two hours.

They are a powerful, diuretic, cathartic, and emetic. They are also a powerful remedy for all forms of disease.

The internal dose is one tablet every hour, and the external dose, one tablet every two hours.

They are a powerful, diuretic, cathartic, and emetic. They are also a powerful remedy for all forms of disease.

The internal dose is one tablet every hour, and the external dose, one tablet every two hours.

They are a powerful, diuretic, cathartic, and emetic. They are also a powerful remedy for all forms of disease.

The internal dose is one tablet every hour, and the external dose, one tablet every two hours.

They are a powerful, diuretic, cathartic, and emetic. They are also a powerful remedy for all forms of disease.

The internal dose is one tablet every hour, and the external dose, one tablet every two hours.

They are a powerful, diuretic, cathartic, and emetic. They are also a powerful remedy for all forms of disease.

The internal dose is one tablet every hour, and the external dose, one tablet every two hours.

They are a powerful, diuretic, cathartic, and emetic. They are also a powerful remedy for all forms of disease.

The internal dose is one tablet every hour, and the external dose, one tablet every two hours.

They are a powerful, diuretic, cathartic, and emetic. They are also a powerful remedy for all forms of disease.

The internal dose is one tablet every hour, and the external dose, one tablet every two hours.

They are a powerful, diuretic, cathartic, and emetic. They are also a powerful remedy for all forms of disease.

The internal dose is one tablet every hour, and the external dose, one tablet every two hours.

They are a powerful, diuretic, cathartic, and emetic. They are also a powerful remedy for all forms of disease.

The internal dose is one tablet every hour, and the external dose, one tablet every two hours.

They are a powerful, diuretic, cathartic, and emetic. They are also a powerful remedy for all forms of disease.

The internal dose is one tablet every hour, and the external dose, one tablet every two hours.

They are a powerful, diuretic, cathartic, and emetic. They are also a powerful remedy for all forms of disease.

The internal dose is one tablet every hour, and the external dose, one tablet every two hours.

They are a powerful, diuretic, cathartic, and emetic. They are also a powerful remedy for all forms of disease.

The internal dose is one tablet every hour, and the external dose, one tablet every two hours.

They are a powerful, diuretic, cathartic, and emetic. They are also a powerful remedy for all forms of disease.

The internal dose is one tablet every hour, and the external dose, one tablet every two hours.

They are a powerful, diuretic, cathartic, and emetic. They are also a powerful remedy for all forms of disease.

The internal dose is one tablet every hour, and the external dose, one tablet every two hours.

They are a powerful, diuretic, cathartic, and emetic. They are also a powerful remedy for all forms of disease.

HAZEL GREEN HERALD

SPENCER COOPER, Proprietor.

HAZEL GREEN - KENTUCKY.

BETTER THINGS.

Better to smell the winter coat than sip the glowing wine.
Better to have a diamond brooch than a diamond chain.
Better still, love of a gentle heart; than better the stony frown of pride.
Better to have a golden seed than roses in a crowd.
Better to be in loneliness than to bask in love all day.
Better to be in the heart than to be lost by the way.
Better to be made for a mother's hand than eat alone at will;
Better to be told than say: "My goods are store-housed."
Better to be a little wise than in knowledge.
Better to teach a child than to tell per-fection's ways.
Better to feel a master's feet than thrill alarming rates.
Better to feel they are proud than to see that they are great.
Better to walk the road unknown than watch the path of safety.
Better the well done; at the last than the air with shooting rain.
Better to have quiet than a burrying
of the bright of the law.
Better to have bright eyes.
Better a death when done than the earth's most favored birth;
Better to have a home than to have the king of all the earth." —George Moodie.

ROMANCE OF A LETTER.

How It Followed a Gloom Lover
Over the World.

I.

The evening train from New York to Newark was flashing across the mountains, when a young man, who had been so long absent from his home, and apparently thinking deeply, started un-hurriedly thrust his hand into his inner coat pocket, and with an exclamation drew out a dainty letter, addressed in feminine hand.

"Just as I expected!" he grumbled. "Of course it would be him! Why didn't it think of it when we left Newark? I might have mailed it there. Now, there's nothing to do but to tell Clara that I forgot it. And, of course, it is important, or she would never have hurriedly sent it off with that blot on the cover."

"Waverly!" called out the brakeman. The young man arose, and, with the letter in hand, left the car. At this moment a carriage, containing a lady and gentleman, drove up to the station, and the young man went to the station to meet the young man.

"He must be going to the city; I'll get him to mail it. Hello, Waverly."

"Aha! Brother, how are you? Yes, my wife thinks she must hear Salmon to-night. Any thing I can do for you?"

"Why, yes; if it would not trouble you. This letter was handed me this morning, and, as usual, I forgot to mail it. I am going to do what I can, I'd just drop it in a box for me, I'd be greatly obliged."

Mr. Weller took the letter, put it in his inner breast coat pocket, and hurried away to his train, which had just arrived, and, taking his place in the board walk to his home, thought the possible result of his forgetfulness would never occur. A week later a small envelope came to him in Weller's parlor. A young married lady who had that day found in her husband's pocket the letter, and given him his address before mailing it, made the statement that she believed that every man in the room had in his pocket something to something, and knew what to rectify his error. What should he do?

Should he hurriedly go to Newark to mail this letter, or should he walk over to the station on the chance of finding some one going to town? John Milford, who was in his haste, entirely forgot the letter. Returning home one morning, ten days later, he caught sight of Mr. Weller taking his place in the lobby. The sight of him recalled the forgotten letter. Stepping to the office window, he addressed the agent, who stood inside.

"Say, Smith, I want to do you a favor. Will you give this letter to some one who is going to take the next train? It is a very important letter, and must be mailed at once."

"I'll attend to it. Hurry up, take it. Oh, brother, don't let me go along."

"Oh, it will be no trouble at all." So, once more the letter was in an express pocket, and ready for New York. It was destined, however, to take a much longer journey. Mr. Gray did not notice the letter, and, in his haste, entirely forgot the letter. Returning home one morning, ten days later, he caught sight of Mr. Weller taking his place in the lobby. The sight of him recalled the forgotten letter. Stepping to the office window, he addressed the agent, who stood inside.

"Say, Smith, I want to do you a favor. Will you give this letter to some one who is going to take the next train? It is a very important letter, and must be mailed at once."

"I'll attend to it. Hurry up, take it. Oh, brother, don't let me go along."

Mr. Weller relieved Mr. Gray continued homeward, and Mr. Smith put the letter upon his desk, where he would be sure to see it again.

But, for some reason, Harris did not come. Smith, catching sight of the letter, was going to open it in the afternoon, would not intrust it to any one else, for fear it might be forgotten. Mr. Gray did not notice the letter. Mr. Weller was therefore consigned to Mr. Smith's pocket just before he went to dinner.

He awoke from the table his wife remarked:

"You are not going to town with us?"

"No, I am going to Boston, and I am going to stay there eight days."

"Well, I can't stand that, you know. We've only time to reach San Francisco before the steamer comes, and say why we are going to Boston."

But, for some reason, Harris did not come. Smith, catching sight of the letter, was going to open it in the afternoon, would not intrust it to any one else, for fear it might be forgotten. Mr. Gray did not notice the letter. Mr. Weller was therefore consigned to Mr. Smith's pocket just before he went to dinner.

He awoke from the table his wife remarked:

"You are not going to town with us?"

"No, I am going to Boston, and I am going to stay there eight days."

"Well, I can't stand that, you know. We've only time to reach San Francisco before the steamer comes, and say why we are going to Boston."

But, for some reason, Harris did not come. Smith, catching sight of the letter, was going to open it in the afternoon, would not intrust it to any one else, for fear it might be forgotten. Mr. Gray did not notice the letter. Mr. Weller was therefore consigned to Mr. Smith's pocket just before he went to dinner.

that coat on! Leave it here, and I will sew on those buttons while you are gone!"

According to the wishes of his wife, Smith put on his Sunday coat, forgetting to transfer his papers to the old one. While Mrs. Smith was working on the coat, Miss Clara picked them up and carefully laid them in a drawer, where they remained until Smith asked for them, several days later.

"Now, that is too bad! I must give this to the first person that goes to town today!"

It chanced that the first person that appeared was Clara Bennett. To him she said, "Wait with the letter."

"Bennett, I wish you'd mail this for me; it's been in my pocket a week now."

Bennett took the letter, and glancing carelessly at it, recognized it as the very letter given him by Clara three weeks ago.

"Where did you get this?" he asked, rather abruptly.

"Grey gave it to me to mail a week ago, and I intended to give it to Harry, but didn't see him. Then I thought of Henry, and forgot it. Do you know anyone living about? Is there none here?"

"I, guess it's all right. I only intended because I know the man to whom it is addressed. I'll see that."

"It's a shame!" said Bennett to himself, "I didn't do much for you, but I first gave it to you. This is what Clara has been looking so fondly for the last three weeks. Poor girl! What a pity!"

The attempt to mail the letter was this time successful, but it was not soon "all right," the brother had pronounced.

Poor Clara's much-travelled letter was sent to the English consul.

After reading the letter, days in his untravelled life were passed on to the American consul, where it remained a month, and was then returned to Alton, Illinois, where it was given to Mr. Haworth, who had written to the English consul to advise him to return the post-mark "Yokohama." He could also add that it had been to California, and then to Boston.

Bennett, who was a boy, had reported himself to the English consul, and, after returning to him, was again sent to the English consul.

"It's a shame!" said Bennett to himself, "I didn't do much for you, but I first gave it to you. This is what Clara has been looking so fondly for the last three weeks. Poor girl! What a pity!"

The attempt to mail the letter was this time successful, but it was not soon "all right," the brother had pronounced.

The day before Clara Bennett had given her letter to the English consul, she received a letter, "carefully yours," from Henry Milford, who, in a short, abrupt avowal of love, had closed with these words: "If you receive this with interest, you will know to whom it is addressed. The English or the American consul."

Several weeks later a letter came to Allison, post-marked "London." Allison was anxious to be informed of the progress of the story, Allison concluded that the previous letter must have miscarried. It is with these words:

"Never stop to think of me, and, in your heart, there is no response to my words, silence is the only answer I desire."

Henry Milford waited very patiently for a week, after sending his initial letter, and, when nothing came in reply, he considered his suit at rest, and, in despair, concluded to accept an invitation from an uncle to visit him in England. He had a good time, and, though he had no money, he could always count on his uncle's hospitality.

"I am sure the sun have you come from, and how is it that this letter has come back to me?"

Bennett, who was a boy, had reported himself to the English consul, and, after returning to him, was again sent to the English consul.

"It's a shame!" said Bennett to himself, "I didn't do much for you, but I first gave it to you. This is what Clara has been looking so fondly for the last three weeks. Poor girl! What a pity!"

The attempt to mail the letter was this time successful, but it was not soon "all right," the brother had pronounced.

Henry Milford waited very patiently for a week, after sending his initial letter, and, when nothing came in reply, he considered his suit at rest, and, in despair, concluded to accept an invitation from an uncle to visit him in England. He had a good time, and, though he had no money, he could always count on his uncle's hospitality.

"I am sure the sun have you come from, and how is it that this letter has come back to me?"

Bennett, who was a boy, had reported himself to the English consul, and, after returning to him, was again sent to the English consul.

"It's a shame!" said Bennett to himself, "I didn't do much for you, but I first gave it to you. This is what Clara has been looking so fondly for the last three weeks. Poor girl! What a pity!"

The attempt to mail the letter was this time successful, but it was not soon "all right," the brother had pronounced.

Henry Milford waited very patiently for a week, after sending his initial letter, and, when nothing came in reply, he considered his suit at rest, and, in despair, concluded to accept an invitation from an uncle to visit him in England. He had a good time, and, though he had no money, he could always count on his uncle's hospitality.

"I am sure the sun have you come from, and how is it that this letter has come back to me?"

Bennett, who was a boy, had reported himself to the English consul, and, after returning to him, was again sent to the English consul.

"It's a shame!" said Bennett to himself, "I didn't do much for you, but I first gave it to you. This is what Clara has been looking so fondly for the last three weeks. Poor girl! What a pity!"

The attempt to mail the letter was this time successful, but it was not soon "all right," the brother had pronounced.

Henry Milford waited very patiently for a week, after sending his initial letter, and, when nothing came in reply, he considered his suit at rest, and, in despair, concluded to accept an invitation from an uncle to visit him in England. He had a good time, and, though he had no money, he could always count on his uncle's hospitality.

"I am sure the sun have you come from, and how is it that this letter has come back to me?"

Bennett, who was a boy, had reported himself to the English consul, and, after returning to him, was again sent to the English consul.

"It's a shame!" said Bennett to himself, "I didn't do much for you, but I first gave it to you. This is what Clara has been looking so fondly for the last three weeks. Poor girl! What a pity!"

The attempt to mail the letter was this time successful, but it was not soon "all right," the brother had pronounced.

Henry Milford waited very patiently for a week, after sending his initial letter, and, when nothing came in reply, he considered his suit at rest, and, in despair, concluded to accept an invitation from an uncle to visit him in England. He had a good time, and, though he had no money, he could always count on his uncle's hospitality.

"I am sure the sun have you come from, and how is it that this letter has come back to me?"

Bennett, who was a boy, had reported himself to the English consul, and, after returning to him, was again sent to the English consul.

"It's a shame!" said Bennett to himself, "I didn't do much for you, but I first gave it to you. This is what Clara has been looking so fondly for the last three weeks. Poor girl! What a pity!"

The attempt to mail the letter was this time successful, but it was not soon "all right," the brother had pronounced.

Henry Milford waited very patiently for a week, after sending his initial letter, and, when nothing came in reply, he considered his suit at rest, and, in despair, concluded to accept an invitation from an uncle to visit him in England. He had a good time, and, though he had no money, he could always count on his uncle's hospitality.

"I am sure the sun have you come from, and how is it that this letter has come back to me?"

Bennett, who was a boy, had reported himself to the English consul, and, after returning to him, was again sent to the English consul.

"It's a shame!" said Bennett to himself, "I didn't do much for you, but I first gave it to you. This is what Clara has been looking so fondly for the last three weeks. Poor girl! What a pity!"

The attempt to mail the letter was this time successful, but it was not soon "all right," the brother had pronounced.

Henry Milford waited very patiently for a week, after sending his initial letter, and, when nothing came in reply, he considered his suit at rest, and, in despair, concluded to accept an invitation from an uncle to visit him in England. He had a good time, and, though he had no money, he could always count on his uncle's hospitality.

"I am sure the sun have you come from, and how is it that this letter has come back to me?"

Bennett, who was a boy, had reported himself to the English consul, and, after returning to him, was again sent to the English consul.

"It's a shame!" said Bennett to himself, "I didn't do much for you, but I first gave it to you. This is what Clara has been looking so fondly for the last three weeks. Poor girl! What a pity!"

The attempt to mail the letter was this time successful, but it was not soon "all right," the brother had pronounced.

Henry Milford waited very patiently for a week, after sending his initial letter, and, when nothing came in reply, he considered his suit at rest, and, in despair, concluded to accept an invitation from an uncle to visit him in England. He had a good time, and, though he had no money, he could always count on his uncle's hospitality.

"I am sure the sun have you come from, and how is it that this letter has come back to me?"

Bennett, who was a boy, had reported himself to the English consul, and, after returning to him, was again sent to the English consul.

"It's a shame!" said Bennett to himself, "I didn't do much for you, but I first gave it to you. This is what Clara has been looking so fondly for the last three weeks. Poor girl! What a pity!"

The attempt to mail the letter was this time successful, but it was not soon "all right," the brother had pronounced.

Henry Milford waited very patiently for a week, after sending his initial letter, and, when nothing came in reply, he considered his suit at rest, and, in despair, concluded to accept an invitation from an uncle to visit him in England. He had a good time, and, though he had no money, he could always count on his uncle's hospitality.

"I am sure the sun have you come from, and how is it that this letter has come back to me?"

Bennett, who was a boy, had reported himself to the English consul, and, after returning to him, was again sent to the English consul.

"It's a shame!" said Bennett to himself, "I didn't do much for you, but I first gave it to you. This is what Clara has been looking so fondly for the last three weeks. Poor girl! What a pity!"

The attempt to mail the letter was this time successful, but it was not soon "all right," the brother had pronounced.

Henry Milford waited very patiently for a week, after sending his initial letter, and, when nothing came in reply, he considered his suit at rest, and, in despair, concluded to accept an invitation from an uncle to visit him in England. He had a good time, and, though he had no money, he could always count on his uncle's hospitality.

"I am sure the sun have you come from, and how is it that this letter has come back to me?"

Bennett, who was a boy, had reported himself to the English consul, and, after returning to him, was again sent to the English consul.

"It's a shame!" said Bennett to himself, "I didn't do much for you, but I first gave it to you. This is what Clara has been looking so fondly for the last three weeks. Poor girl! What a pity!"

The attempt to mail the letter was this time successful, but it was not soon "all right," the brother had pronounced.

Henry Milford waited very patiently for a week, after sending his initial letter, and, when nothing came in reply, he considered his suit at rest, and, in despair, concluded to accept an invitation from an uncle to visit him in England. He had a good time, and, though he had no money, he could always count on his uncle's hospitality.

"I am sure the sun have you come from, and how is it that this letter has come back to me?"

Bennett, who was a boy, had reported himself to the English consul, and, after returning to him, was again sent to the English consul.

"It's a shame!" said Bennett to himself, "I didn't do much for you, but I first gave it to you. This is what Clara has been looking so fondly for the last three weeks. Poor girl! What a pity!"

The attempt to mail the letter was this time successful, but it was not soon "all right," the brother had pronounced.

Henry Milford waited very patiently for a week, after sending his initial letter, and, when nothing came in reply, he considered his suit at rest, and, in despair, concluded to accept an invitation from an uncle to visit him in England. He had a good time, and, though he had no money, he could always count on his uncle's hospitality.

"I am sure the sun have you come from, and how is it that this letter has come back to me?"

Bennett, who was a boy, had reported himself to the English consul, and, after returning to him, was again sent to the English consul.

"It's a shame!" said Bennett to himself, "I didn't do much for you, but I first gave it to you. This is what Clara has been looking so fondly for the last three weeks. Poor girl! What a pity!"

The attempt to mail the letter was this time successful, but it was not soon "all right," the brother had pronounced.

Henry Milford waited very patiently for a week, after sending his initial letter, and, when nothing came in reply, he considered his suit at rest, and, in despair, concluded to accept an invitation from an uncle to visit him in England. He had a good time, and, though he had no money, he could always count on his uncle's hospitality.

"I am sure the sun have you come from, and how is it that this letter has come back to me?"

Bennett, who was a boy, had reported himself to the English consul, and, after returning to him, was again sent to the English consul.

"It's a shame!" said Bennett to himself, "I didn't do much for you, but I first gave it to you. This is what Clara has been looking so fondly for the last three weeks. Poor girl! What a pity!"

The attempt to mail the letter was this time successful, but it was not soon "all right," the brother had pronounced.

Henry Milford waited very patiently for a week, after sending his initial letter, and, when nothing came in reply, he considered his suit at rest, and, in despair, concluded to accept an invitation from an uncle to visit him in England. He had a good time, and, though he had no money, he could always count on his uncle's hospitality.

"I am sure the sun have you come from, and how is it that this letter has come back to me?"

Bennett, who was a boy, had reported himself to the English consul, and, after returning to him, was again sent to the English consul.

"It's a shame!" said Bennett to himself, "I didn't do much for you, but I first gave it to you. This is what Clara has been looking so fondly for the last three weeks. Poor girl! What a pity!"

The attempt to mail the letter was this time successful, but it was not soon "all right," the brother had pronounced.

Henry Milford waited very patiently for a week, after sending his initial letter, and, when nothing came in reply, he considered his suit at rest, and, in despair, concluded to accept an invitation from an uncle to visit him in England. He had a good time, and, though he had no money, he could always count on his uncle's hospitality.

"I am sure the sun have you come from, and how is it that this letter has come back to me?"

Bennett, who was a boy, had reported himself to the English consul, and, after returning to him, was again sent to the English consul.

"It's a shame!" said Bennett to himself, "I didn't do much for you, but I first gave it to you. This is what Clara has been looking so fondly for the last three weeks. Poor girl! What a pity!"

The attempt to mail the letter was this time successful, but it was not soon "all right," the brother had pronounced.

Henry Milford waited very patiently for a week, after sending his initial letter, and, when nothing came in reply, he considered his suit at rest, and, in despair, concluded to accept an invitation from an uncle to visit him in England. He had a good time, and, though he had no money, he could always count on his uncle's hospitality.

"I am sure the sun have you come from, and how is it that this letter has come back to me?"

Bennett, who was a boy, had reported himself to the English consul, and, after returning to him, was again sent to the English consul.

"It's a shame!" said Bennett to himself, "I didn't do much for you, but I first gave it to you. This is what Clara has been looking so fondly for the last three weeks. Poor girl! What a pity!"

The attempt to mail the letter was this time successful, but it was not soon "all right," the brother had pronounced.

Henry Milford waited very patiently for a week, after sending his initial letter, and, when nothing came in reply, he considered his suit at rest, and, in despair, concluded to accept an invitation from an uncle to visit him in England. He had a good time, and, though he had no money, he could always count on his uncle's hospitality.

"I am sure the sun have you come from, and how is it that this letter has come back to me?"

Bennett, who was a boy, had reported himself to the English consul, and, after returning to him, was again sent to the English consul.

"It's a shame!" said Bennett to himself, "I didn't do much for you, but I first gave it to you. This is what Clara has been looking so fondly for the last three weeks. Poor girl! What a pity!"

The attempt to mail the letter was this time successful, but it was not soon "all right," the brother had pronounced.

Henry Milford waited very patiently for a week, after sending his initial letter, and, when nothing came in reply, he considered his suit at rest, and, in despair, concluded to accept an invitation from an uncle to visit him in England. He had a good time, and, though he had no money, he could always count on his uncle's hospitality.

"I am sure the sun have you come from, and how is it that this letter has come back to me?"

Bennett, who was a boy, had reported himself to the English consul, and, after returning to him, was again sent to the English consul.

"It's a shame!" said Bennett to himself, "I didn't do much for you, but I first gave it to you. This is what Clara has been looking so fondly for the last three weeks. Poor girl! What a pity!"

The attempt to mail the letter was this time successful, but it was not soon "all right," the brother had pronounced.

Henry Milford waited very patiently for a week, after sending his initial letter, and, when nothing came in reply, he considered his suit at rest, and, in despair, concluded to accept an invitation from an uncle to visit him in England. He had a good time, and, though he had no money, he could always count on his uncle's hospitality.

"I am sure the sun have you come from, and how is it that this letter has come back to me?"

Bennett, who was a boy, had reported himself to the English consul, and, after returning to him, was again sent to the English consul.

"It's a shame!" said Bennett to himself, "I didn't do much for you, but I first gave it to you. This is what Clara has been looking so fondly for the last three weeks. Poor girl! What a pity!"

The attempt to mail the letter was this time successful, but it was not soon "all right," the brother had pronounced.

Henry Milford waited very patiently for a week, after sending his initial letter, and, when nothing came in reply, he considered his suit at rest, and, in despair, concluded to accept an invitation from an uncle to visit him in England. He had a good time, and, though he had no money, he could always count on his uncle's hospitality.

"I am sure the sun have you come from, and how is it that this letter has come back to me?"

Bennett, who was a boy, had reported himself to the English consul, and, after returning to him, was again sent to the English consul.

"It's a shame!" said Bennett to himself, "I didn't do much for you, but I first gave it to you. This is what Clara has been looking so fondly for the last three weeks. Poor girl! What a pity!"

The attempt to mail the letter was this time successful, but it was not soon "all right," the brother had pronounced.

Henry Milford waited very patiently for a week, after sending his initial letter, and, when nothing came in reply, he considered his suit at rest, and, in despair, concluded to accept an invitation from an uncle to visit him in England. He had a good time, and, though he had no money, he could always count on his uncle's hospitality.

"I am sure the sun have you come from, and how is it that this letter has come back to me?"